The Idaho Courts

1985 Annual Report

APPENDIX

INTRODUCTION

The Idaho courts have long appreciated the importance of statistical data for measuring past and present caseload factors so that an accurate picture of the current situation, historical trends, and future projections can be obtained. In 1973, Idaho's was one of the first state judiciaries to implement a computerized system to collect detailed information on every case, of whatever type, filed in all of its trial courts. The system, called "CLASS" (Caseload Analysis Support System), has been in use continually since 1973 with occasional refinements. Today it stands as one of the best systems of its kind in the nation.

Data are provided by each trial court in the form of daily reports. These undergo scrupulous manual and computerized editing, after which the data are input to the CLASS system on the Supreme Court's computer. From data thus processed, management reports are prepared monthly for the Administrative Office of the Courts, District Administrative Judges, and Trial Court Administrators. The reports are normally in the hands of the recipients within two weeks from the close of each month. The system also produces statistical information used in the annual reports to the Governor and the State Legislature. Information generated by the CLASS system has become an integral part of the planning, budgeting and daily operational processes of the Idaho courts.

This Appendix to the Idaho Courts Annual Report for 1985 consists primarily of a year-end report generated by the CLASS system, with the exception of the appellate caseload information found on the first few pages. These were derived from reports generated by another automated system called "ATS" (Appeal Tracking System), which is also resident on the Supreme Court's computer and which was also developed entirely in-house.

The success of the CLASS system is due in large measure to the cooperation of the trial court judges and their deputy court clerks throughout Idaho. They are its only source of input; and the dedication with which they carry out their CLASS reporting activities is critical to the system's reliability.

The Administrative Office of the Courts is pleased to take this opportunity to thank those judges and clerks for their cooperation and hard work.

*: These figures are reflected in the "Added/Transfr" columns of the individual appellate courts' caseload reports found on the two following pages.

NOTE: Newly-filed appeals are classified as "unassigned" until they reach the At Issue stage. At this point, each appeal is either retained by the Supreme Court or assigned to the Court of Appeals. Until they are thus distributed they are considered part of the overall appellate caseload, but are not counted as part of the caseload of either court.

The following chart combines and summarizes, by major case type groups, the caseload activities of all three elements: Unassigned cases, Supreme Court cases, and Court of Appeals cases.

Court Committee Recommends Guidelines

JUDGE-CLERK BATTLE SPOTLIGHTS DISCORD

When the jail doors clanged shut on two court clerks in Lewiston, a long-simmering dispute over supervision of court clerks spilled onto the front pages of the state's major newspapers.

The dispute was clear enough: a disagreement between an appointed clerk of the district court and the administrative district judge of the Second Judicial District over who has the ultimate authority to hire a deputy clerk who does court work. A court order and a finding of contempt later, the confrontation had escalated into a civil rights suit in the U.S. District Court and an original action for a writ of prohibition in the Idaho Supreme Court. Regardless of the outcome of the various court actions, one thing was apparent: the patchwork personnel mechanisms in the trial courts would be undergoing some major scrutiny.

How the Trial Courts are Staffed

Like many other states, Idaho has a hybrid system for staffing its trial courts, much like its funding. While the state provides the judges, court reporters, and trial court administrators, most of the support staff for the state trial courts are provided by the 44 counties, through independently elected county officials. The bulk of the court clerical staff is from the office of the elected clerk of the district court (who also is ex-officio auditor and recorder, and performs many other county functions). In most counties, court bailiffs are deputies from the office of the elected county sheriff. Trial court budgets are reviewed and approved by the elected county commissioners.

This system for court support staff, which has endured since territorial days, leads to some interesting contrasts: in one Ada County court building, city court clerks work next to county court clerks, and both are supervised by a state court employee. In Canyon County, a judge hires his secretary, but someone else hires his court clerk. In Pocatello, the court bailiff is hired by the trial court administrator, while in Coeur d'Alene, the bailiff is a deputy sheriff. Caught in the middle are the employees themselves, who might be hired by an elected county official, but who are required to satisfy job requirements set by a state judge.

Whether and how the situation might be straightened out may rest with the decision of the Idaho Supreme Court. The Court has appointed a panel of

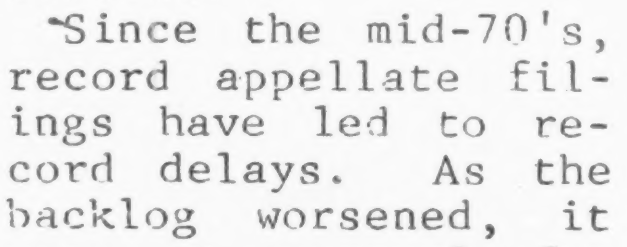
TEN-YEAR BACKLOG REDUCED

APPELLATE COURTS CURRENT, SAYS CHIEF

One day in December, when Supreme Court Clerk Fred Lyon tried to schedule hearings before the Court of Appeals, he found there were not enough cases ready to be argued. The next week, when Boise attorney Tom Miller's Supreme Court appeal was ready to be argued, he was surprised to receive a hearing date just two months away. Both men were discovering what just a few years ago seemed to be an impossible dream: the appellate courts in Idaho are current.

Since the mid-70's, record appellate filings have led to record delays. As the backlog worsened, it was not unusual for appellants to have to wait more than two years after all of the briefs were filed for the Supreme Court to hear their appeal. Pending appeals hit an all-time high of 783 in 1983, and, at one point, it took almost 2 1/2 years from the time an appeal was filed until it was finally decided by the Supreme Court.

In 1982, the newly-created Idaho Court of Appeals began its work, and the slow process of reducing the backlog began. Record levels of filings, however, prevented any immediate turnaround.



In calendar year 1985, the Idaho appellate courts made their

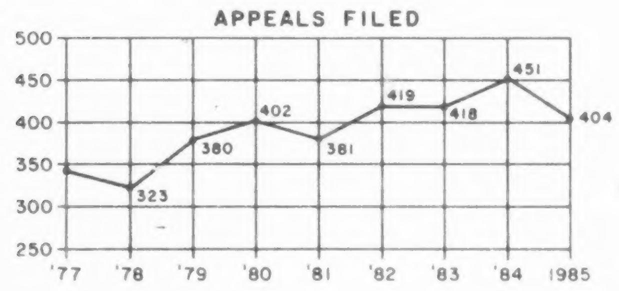
Both Courts Current

APPELLATE COURTS SET RECORD FOR DISPOSITIONS

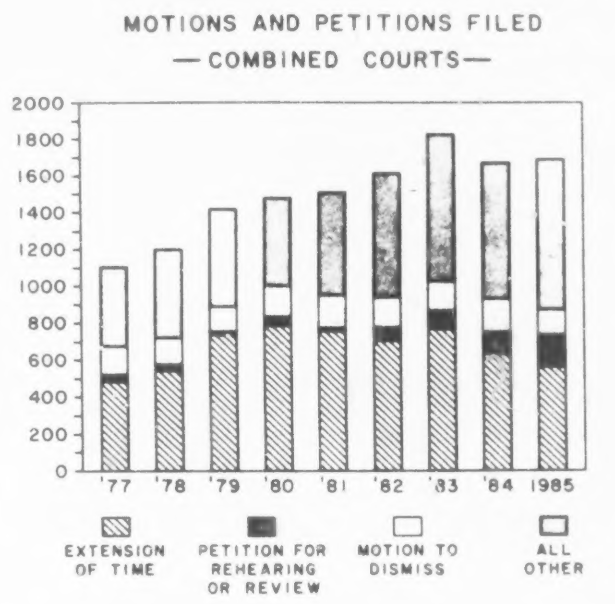
In calendar year 1985, the Idaho appellate courts made their greatest strides in reducing backlog. By disposing of 574 appeals--more appeals than any other year in Idaho's history--the appellate courts reduced their pending caseload to its lowest point since 1978, and cut the delay in obtaining a final decision by 5 1/2 months.

Idaho has seen a sustained growth in appellate litigation since the mid-1970's, and while new appellate filings in 1985 were less than the previous year, the 404 new appeals hardly signaled a turnabout.

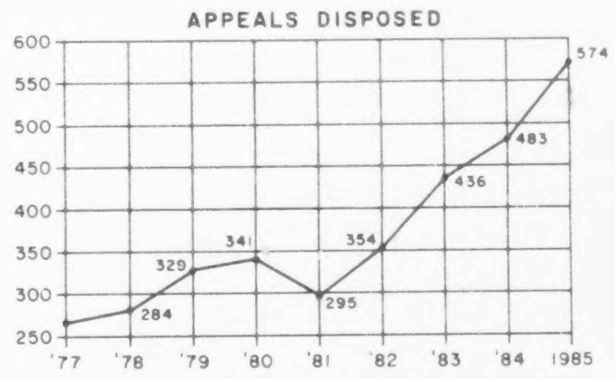


Court officials still are hesitating to predict whether appeals might level off for the immediate future. Recent research finding that appellate filings lag behind business expansion by 3 to 4 years, may indicate that the appellate courts are in for a renewed round of increases in appellate filings as business conditions improve.

Petitions and motions decreased in 1985, but continued to be a considerable strain on Idaho's system. During 1985, 1,624 new petitions and motions were filed with the courts. The courts dealt finally with 1,749. The number of petitions and motions dropped 3.2% during 1985 from the 1984 record total of 1,678. Also filed with the court during the year were 54 original proceedings and 4 attorney discipline matters.

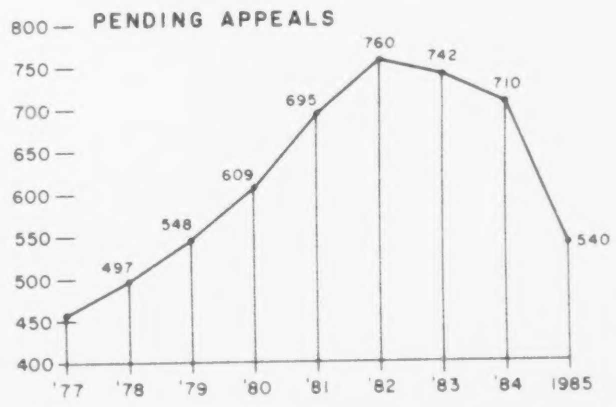


For the fourth year in a row, appellate dispositions set an all time record. During 1985, the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals disposed of 574 appeals, an 18.8% increase from the previous record 483 dispositions in 1984.



During 1985, the Supreme Court disposed of 169 appeals by majority opinions, the Court of Appeals disposed of 226 by majority opinions, and a Special Panel of Supreme Court Justices and retired district judges disposed of an additional 52 appeals. This was a substantial productivity increase for the fourth straight year.

The total number of appeals pending had risen steadily and sharply since 1974. But in 1984, for the first time in a decade, the number of pending appeals was less at the end of the year than at the beginning. At the end of 1984, there were 33 fewer appeals pending than at the beginning of the year. That trend continued in 1985, which saw a further reduction of 171 pending appeals--a 24% decline!



Raw numbers of pending appeals do not tell the whole story: the amount of time people must wait to have their appeal decided is of more importance to individual litigants, and in this statistic there has been considerable improvement.

During 1985, it took an average of 704 days from the time an appeal was filed with the Supreme Court until either the Supreme Court or Court of Appeals finally concluded its work on the case. This performance cut the appellate delay by 168 days from 1984's time of 872 days.

Both courts are now current in hearing oral arguments, and have eliminated totally the backlog of cases awaiting hearing. Once an appeal is fully briefed and ready to be argued, both the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals are able to set oral argument for the current term of court.

greatest strides. By disposing of 574 appeals--more appeals than any other year in Idaho's history--and the number of pending appeals was reduced to the lowest level since 1978.

"The appellate courts are current," said Chief Justice Donaldson. "Our goal now, is to stay that way."

Steps to Speed Preparation

Since substantial time is spent preparing appeals for hearings--244 days on the average--the courts are now working to speed briefing and preparation of transcripts. District court clerks have received training videos to help prepare trial records for appeals, and attorneys are being asked to meet deadlines for preparing briefs. Computer-generated notices and reports are monitoring progress. After all of the hard work in catching up, no one wants to fall behind again.

ON THE RECORD

"It's amazing this thing has worked all these years."

--District Judge Robert Newhouse, on the dual responsibility for supervising trial court staff.

"Actually, the most important question I have at the moment is, who the heck is the boss of the county clerks?"

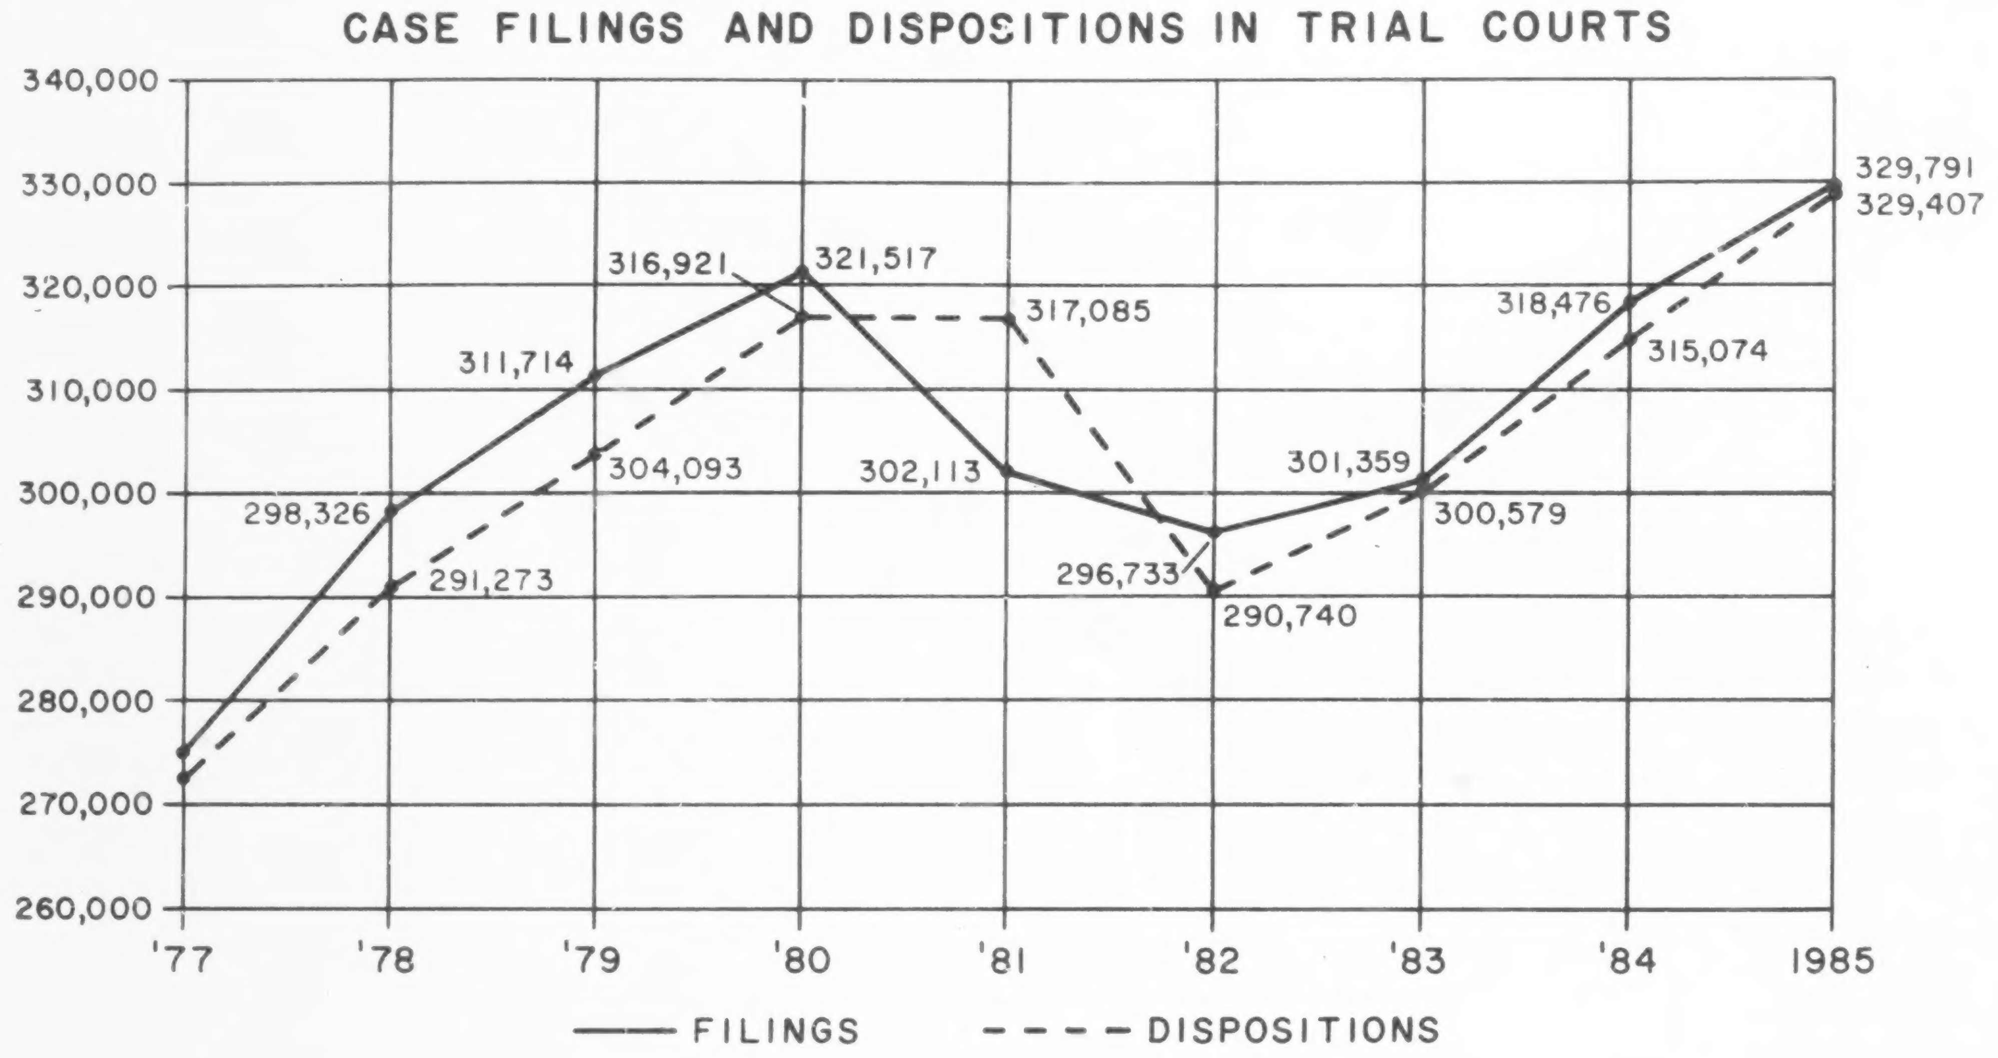
--Joyce C. Hart, Clerk of the District Court, Idaho County.

"This is an important milestone in reducing court delay for Idaho citizens. Litigants and their attorneys now can expect their appeals to be put on hearing calendars almost immediately after the cases have been assigned to our court."

--Chief Judge Jesse R. Walters, Idaho Court of Appeals.

3.5% Increase Statewide

TRIAL COURT CASELOADS HIT ALL TIME HIGH



CASE FILINGS AND DISPOSITIONS IN TRIAL COURTS

While Idaho's business economy sputters, the business of courts--deciding cases--continues to boom. Calendar year 1985 saw the highest number of new cases filed in the trial courts in Idaho's history--329,791 cases.

Following a 5.7% growth rate in 1984, new cases coming into the state courts climbed by 3.5% in 1985, with 329,791 new trial court filings as compared to 318,476 new filings in 1984.

Shifting Growth Patterns

During the decade of the 1970's, new cases had been filed in the Idaho courts an an almost uniform 4-5% annual increase. State officials became accustomed to predictable growth and responded accordingly, by building new courtrooms and adding more judges to accommodate heavier workloads.

The growth in trial court business had a number of contributing factors during the 1970's, including the sharp growth of Idaho's population and the increased number of attorneys admitted to practice. Between 1970 and 1980, the state's population grew by 32% from 713,015 to 943,935, and the number of attorneys almost tripled, from about 600 to 1,540.

Perhaps reflecting the economic recession, caseloads declined almost 8% in 1981 and 1982, but an improving economy coupled with the evidence of recent case filing increases may signal a return to predictable caseload increases as the dominant trend of the 1980's.

Winners and Losers

Traffic cases (not including DUI) accounted for 50.5% of the increase in trial court filings in 1985. During the calendar year, new traffic cases were up by 5,714, a 2.8% increase from 1984's 199,157 new cases.

While 1985 traffic filings did increase, they remained near or below the 1980 level. Severe limitations on city and county law enforcement budgets may be limiting the growth of traffic filings in the courts.

Civil filings in the district courts, rose by 5.2%, from 5,406 new cases in 1984 to 5,689 in 1985. This is the first significant increase in general civil filings since 1980.

Idaho's small claims departments recorded a robust year, with 16,808 new complaints filed in 1985--an 18.6% increase from the 1984 total of 14,167. Although Idaho does not allow attorneys or collection agencies to file small claims, small businesses and private individuals increasingly are turning to the small claims departments as a quick, inexpensive way to collect debts.

Overall, magistrate division case filings increased by 3.5%, from 309,107 in 1984 to 319,843 in 1985. Other trends in the magistrate divisions: domestic relations cases are down by 1.2%; drug cases rose slightly, from 1,598 to 1,717.

Last year, the biggest increase in case filings was recorded in child support cases, with support cases rising 35%. In 1985, child support cases were stable: the 1985 total of 4,834 new child support petitions was decrease of only 5.7% over the 1984 total of 5,126 cases.

Dispositions Up

Despite reports from trial judges that individual cases have become more complex and that the time required to dispose of individual cases has expanded, the trial courts increased their overall dispositions in 1985.

District judges and judges of the magistrate division disposed of 4.5% more cases in 1985 than in 1984, disposing of 329,407 cases during the past calendar year, as compared with 315,074 cases in 1984. The number of cases pending in the trial courts nonetheless rose by 0.3% in 1985 from 53,393 on December 31, 1984 to 53,573 on December 31, 1985.

The average number of new cases filed for each district judge in the state in 1985 was 301 cases, while the average for judges of the magistrate division was 4,569 new cases. This compares with new case filings in the prior year of 284 per district judge and 4,546 new cases per magistrate judge. The district judges disposed of an average of 289 per judge during the year, while the judges of the magistrate division averaged 4,569 dispositions per judge.

Of the civil cases which received a final judgment in the trial courts in 1985, 23,974 or 44.4% were disposed of with a court or jury trial. On the criminal side, 95.1% of these cases were disposed of through pleas or dismissals, while 12,591 or 4.9% received court or jury trial.

Magistrate Appeals

Starting in July, small claims appeals were shifted from district judges to lawyer magistrates. While this change, designed to speed up the processing of small claims appeals, provided some relief to the district courts, other types of appeals from the magistrate division to the district court continued to rise. In 1985, the district courts received 472 non-small claims appeals from magistrate decisions, up 14.5% over the 412 non-small claims appeals filed in 1984. District judges disposed of 664 magistrate division appeals in 1985, leaving 424 appeals pending at the end of the year.

Booze Sales, Accidents Also Decline

DUI REPORT: LESS CASES

New drunken driving cases coming into the courts dropped in 1985--the first significant decline in a decade. As the year ended, available statistics began to paint a picture of changing societal attitudes toward the use and abuse of alcohol: decreases in liquor consumption; less drinking and driving; and fewer alcohol-related accidents.

The "New" DUI Law

In 1983, the Idaho legislature passed a "tough" new law to deter drunken driving. Immediately after the new law took effect on July 1, 1983, DUI charges dropped sharply statewide, offering hope that tougher sentences were discouraging drivers from drinking. Misdemeanor DUI complaints rebounded slightly in 1984, but when adjusted for changes in the felony statutes, were still less than in pre-law (before the DUI law went into effect) days.

In 1985, the new DUI law, coupled with educational efforts and increased law enforcement, may be making an impact.

First Drop in Ten Years

Throughout the last decade, and until the new DUI law went into effect, misdemeanor DUI complaints were increasing at 5% to 10% per year. At no time did the caseloads register a noticeable decline.

In 1985, new DUI cases coming into the courts declined substantially, averaging 954 per month, and the total of 11,455 new filings was a 8.1% decrease from 1984's total of 12,476 cases--the first significant decrease in ten years.

Fewer Felonies

The new DUI law allows prosecutors to upgrade a misdemeanor to a felony only when prior DUI convictions occurred after July 1, 1983. Thus, DUI defendants who might otherwise have been prosecuted on a felony charge were given a clean slate as of that date. As a result, the number of DUI felony complaints has dropped sharply since July 1, 1983, to 90 complaints in 1984, and to 94 complaints in 1985--the lowest numbers since records were kept in the courts.

While it was expected that felonies would decline initially in 1984, it was also expected that they would increase again in succeeding years, as defendants accumulated multiple DUI charges. Calendar year 1985's 94 felony filings, while welcome, is surprising. One possible conclusion: the new law, as implemented by law enforcement, prosecutors, and the courts, is working.

More Trials

The number of DUI cases going to trial, which had increased from about 3% in "pre-law" days, to 12% in December of 1983, appears now to have stablized at about 4% of the dispositions statewide in 1984. In Ada County, however, at least 7.2% of the DUI cases are going to trial, and Ada County itself accounted for 32.2% of the DUI trials in the state in 1985.

More Jail Time

DUI defendants continue to receive sentences of incarceration at higher rates than before the new law went into effect. While some sentences are suspended, 71.3% of the defendants who appeared before a judge for sentencing on misdemeanor DUI charges were sentenced to jail in 1985. Prior to the new DUI law only 43% of the defendants appearing before a judge received a sentence including incarceration.

Plea Bargaining

About 66% of the DUI defendants pled guilty to DUI charges in 1985, down 12% from the 78% average of defendants who pled guilty prior to the new law.

The number of defendants pleading guilty to reduced or amended charges--"plea" or "charge bargains"--appears now to have stablized at about 16% of dispositions, down from a high of 19% in December of 1983. In Ada County, the number of defendants pleading guilty to a reduced or amended charge dropped from a high of 42.3% in December 1983, to an average of 29.5% in 1985.

Changing Attitudes

It is impossible to determine through statistics the exact causes for increases or decreases in DUI complaints. Court caseloads can be influenced by the level of law enforcement activities, which in turn can be influenced by local government budgets. Nonetheless, there are signs that motor vehicle-related alcohol abuse is declining: per capita liquor consumption and liquor sales have declined since 1982; the percentage of auto accidents involving a drinking driver fell to 1979 levels. Tough penalties, increased law enforcement, and public education have combined to take the drinking driver out of the courts--and, hopefully, off Idaho's roads.

TIME STANDARDS MAKE IMPACT

In 1984, Idaho became the first state to adopt national time standards to reduce unnecessary delay. Those time standards (see inset) serve as guidelines for judges, lawyers and litigants to assist them in determining the length of time it should take to conclude a case in the trial courts. And, it is apparent that those time standards are beginning to change attitudes and reduce delay.

A number of trial judges have adopted procedures to limit continuances, and more are experimenting with pretrial settlement conferences or status conferences. Unassigned cases, once a calendar management problem, largely have disappeared. And trial court administrators are being furnished with monthly "hit lists" of older cases which should be brought to conclusion.

During 1985, the Idaho trial courts continued to meet, on the average, the time standards in all major case categories. Emphasis for next year will be on reducing the percentage of cases which exceed the standard.

Child Support Standards

In 1985, Idaho adopted a time standard for child support enforcement cases: petitions seeking enforcement of child support payments should be tried within 60 days and finally disposed within 90 days from filing. While support enforcement delays exist in prosecutorial stages in some counties, the trial courts have committed themselves to meeting this important time guideline in 1986.

IDAHO TIME STANDARDS

TYPE OF CASE	RECOMMENDATION
Civil
District Court:	540 days from complaint
Magistrate: (except probate)	180 days from complaint
Child Support Enforcement:	Trial within 60 days from filing; disposition within 90 days
Felonies:	180 days from first appearance in magistrate division
Magistrate:	Bind over order within 30 days from first appearance
District Court:	150 days from first appearance in district court
Misdemeanors:	90 days from first appearance
Domestic Relations:	180 days from complaint
Juvenile
Detention Hearing:	Within 24 hours excluding holidays
Adjudicatory Hearing:	15 days from petition
Disposition Hearing:	Within 45 days of adjudicatory hearing
Small Claims:	60 days from complaint

IDAHO'S MOST PRODUCTIVE DISTRICT JUDGE

Moving large numbers of cases quickly is not an easy task in today's judicial world, where legal issues are becoming more complex, and where interim motions can consume days of legal research. But resolving large numbers of disputes quickly can mean that parents won't have to wait as long for a child custody decision, or witnesses' memories will not fade in a criminal prosecution. Productivity and quality are not mutually exclusive.

During calendar year 1985, one judge resolved more complex disputes more quickly than any other. Based on the number of filings, dispositions, and the average age of pending cases, Idaho's most productive district judge for 1985 was Fifth District Judge Daniel C. Hurlbutt, Jr., of Twin Falls County.

HOW TO TELL A COURTROOM RECORDER FROM A MODIFIED DICTATING MACHINE

CONTINUOUS RECORDING
There are no gaps in the record of proceedings thanks to the ACR-7B's dual cassette decks. When one deck nears the end of the tape, the other deck automatically starts recording.

AUTOMATIC SEARCH
The ACR-7B's accurate bi-directional search for playback locates a desired position on a previously recorded tape within two digits.

YOU CAN'T MAKE A MISTAKE
When fresh cassettes are inserted, they are automatically rewound and the tape counter is automatically reset. If a cassette jams or breaks, or if a previous recording is detected, an alarm sounds and the stand-by deck immediately begins recording. An alarm also alerts you if a microphone malfunctions.

PRESETTABLE TAPE COUNTER
Insert a partially recorded cassette and immediately resume recording where you left off by simply setting the tape counter.

FOUR CHANNELS
All four channels record simultaneously to capture every voice, even when several speakers talk at once.
Volume for each channel is adjusted automatically, when recording.

GYYR'S ACR-7B
VERBATIM RECORDER
The only recorder designed specifically to meet the stringent demands of the courtroom.

Judicial Watchdog Works Quietly

REMOVAL INQUIRY SPOTLIGHTS JUDICIAL COUNCIL

A reported investigation of a district judge in Caldwell in 1985 focused attention on the quiet watchdog of the judiciary --the Idaho Judicial Council. Although the judge involved resigned before a scheduled hearing to consider formal disciplinary charges, nonetheless, the Council's role in judicial discipline obtained greater visibility.

The Idaho Judicial Council is an independent council within the judicial branch, which plays a major role in both the selection and discipline of Supreme Court Justices, Court of Appeals Judges, and district judges. (Magistrate judges are selected by local district magistrate commissions, and disciplined by district judges.) The Council nominates to the Governor persons for appointment to vacancies in the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals and District Courts, and it may make recommendations to the Supreme Court for removal, discipline and retirement of judges on those courts.

The function of the Judicial Council is important to the court system and the legal process, because, as noted in the Council's most recent report to the Legislature: "Justice is administered by people, not by systems. The quality of justice turns, in full measure, upon the competence, fairness, and diligence of the human being in the black robe."

The Judicial Council consists of 7 members: the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, who is chairman; a district court judge and two lawyers appointed by the governing board of the Idaho Bar with the consent of the state Senate; and three non-attorney members appointed by the Governor with the consent of the Senate. Members are appointed with consideration for geographical representation, and no more than 3 members can be from the same political party.

The Council also periodically conducts studies resulting in recommendations for improvements of the judicial system, and makes reports to the Supreme Court and Legislature. For the last several years, the Council has been holding "town meetings" throughout the state to obtain information about the strengths and weaknesses of the court system.

1985 Activities

During 1985, the Judicial Council helped select three district judges to fill vacancies when judges retired or resigned. In all, 24 lawyers applied for the three vacancies, and in each case, the Council sent 4 qualified nominees to the Governor for final appointment.

The Council received 14 complaints concerning Idaho judges in 1985. Each complaint was reviewed, and in most cases found to be without substance. Only one complaint resulted in formal disciplinary charges being filed against a judge.

Public Comment

The Judicial Council invites public participation in the judicial selection process. The Council interviews of applicants for judicial positions are open to the public, and citizens are encouraged to make their opinions known on judicial candidates. While Council disciplinary investigations are confidential, the Council will recommend to the 1986 Legislature that the law be amended to allow the Council to comment publicly on whether an investigation is underway.

JUDICIAL COUNCIL AT A GLANCE

7 Members:
Chief Justice, Chairman
3 Attorneys (one of whom must be a district judge)
--Appointed by Board of Commissioners of Idaho State Bar with consent of Senate.
3 Non-Attorneys
--Appointed by Governor with advice and consent of Senate.

Terms: 6 years, staggered terms.

Duties: (1) Conducts studies and makes recommendations to Legislature and Supreme Court.
(2) Recommends appointments to Governor to fill vacancies.
(3) Recommends discipline, removal or retirement of Justices and Judges.

HOW JUDGES ARE SELECTED

Justices, Court of Appeals Judges and District Judges

When vacancy occurs, Judicial Council nominates from two to four names to Governor. Governor makes final appointment.

Retained by contested, non-partisan election in primary.

Magistrate Judges

Appointed for 18 months by district magistrates commissions composed of county commissioners, mayors, lay citizens and two (non-voting) lawyers.

Retained through "yes" or "no" vote on record in general election, every four years.

HOW JUDGES ARE DISCIPLINED

Justices, Court of Appeals Judges and District Judges

Idaho Judicial Council investigates complaints and recommends removal, discipline or retirement to Supreme Court. Idaho Supreme Court may remove or discipline judge.

Complainants can contact: Robert Hamlin, Executive Director, 344-8474.

Magistrate Judges

During first 18 months, district magistrates commission may remove without cause; thereafter, district judges sitting as group can remove only for cause.

Complainants can contact: Administrative district judge for judicial district.

IDAHO APPELLATE HANDBOOK

For the first time, Idaho lawyers have a single authoritative reference source for state and federal appellate practice.

Charles R. Donaldson, Chief Justice of the Idaho Supreme Court, has said, "The Idaho Appellate Handbook should prove to be an invaluable guide to appellate practice for Idaho lawyers, not only to the occasional practitioner of appellate advocacy but also to those lawyers who regularly appear in the appellate courts."

The Idaho Appellate Handbook is available through the Idaho Law Foundation at a cost of $125.00. To order an Appellate Handbook, write the Idaho Law Foundation, P.O. Box 895, Boise, ID 83701.

COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS NEW JURY STANDARDS

Each year, approximately 5% of our state's population is called for jury service, and many Idaho citizens derive their impression of the legal system from their jury experience. To help improve the service of courts to the public, Chief Justice Charles R. Donaldson in August, 1984, appointed two statewide committees composed of judges, lawyers, and other court and county officials, to study jury usage and management practices in Idaho, and to recommend standards.

During their deliberations, the committees compared present Idaho statutes, Supreme Court rules, and local practices with the ABA Jury Usage and Management Standards approved by the ABA House of Delegates in February, 1983. The ABA Jury Usage and Management Standards, a total of nineteen in number, contain standards relating to selection of prospective jurors, standards relating to selection of a particular jury, and standards relating to juror performance and deliberations.

The committees submitted their reports to the Supreme Court in February, 1985, recommending that most of the ABA Standards be adopted. While Idaho already meets most standards, the Supreme Court accepted changes designed to make better use of the time of citizens called to jury service, and streamline exemptions and deferrals of jury service.

Jury Video

Citizens reporting for jury duty often are bewildered, and sometimes nervous about the possibility of participating in the drama of a courtroom trial. Sometimes jurors resent the personal sacrifices occasioned by jury service. To help jurors understand the court system and appreciate the value of their service, the Jury Standards Committee helped to develop a videotape orientation program for jurors. The new film, "Jury Duty! Why Me?," will be distributed to all 44 counties in 1986, and will become part of the orientation program for all citizens called for jury service in Idaho.

Trial Court Committee Guidelines

At the request of Chief Justice Donaldson, a special committee of judges, district court clerks, county commissioners, and court administrators, chaired by Idaho Court of Appeals Chief Judge Jesse Walters, worked during 1985 to issue a set of guidelines governing personnel issues in the district court. Those guidelines, while not satisfying the need for a clear definition of legal authority, have provided a blueprint for how courts and county officials can cooperate in dealing with hiring, firing, and supervision of trial court personnel.

One committee recommendation was adopted immediately by Chief Justice Donaldson: he directed all judges to follow personnel practices which guarantee merit selection and equal opportunity for employment in future hiring of personnel working in the district courts.

District Meetings Ease Tension

Meanwhile, some judicial districts are using districtwide meetings of judges and court support staff as a way to open lines of communication on personnel issues and to improve court operations. A model program has been operating in the Fifth Judicial District, where clerks and judges meet annually to discuss ways to improve judicial services to the public.

But some observers feel that cooperation has its limits, and that only a Supreme Court decision will resolve the controversy. As Trial Court Financing Committee member and Boise Police Chief James Montgomery observed, "Problems usually don't occur where there is a cooperative spirit; however, where statutes are not clear, the law of averages means you will have disputes eventually over lines of authority."

DISTRICT JUDGE: ELECTRONIC RECORDING WORKS!

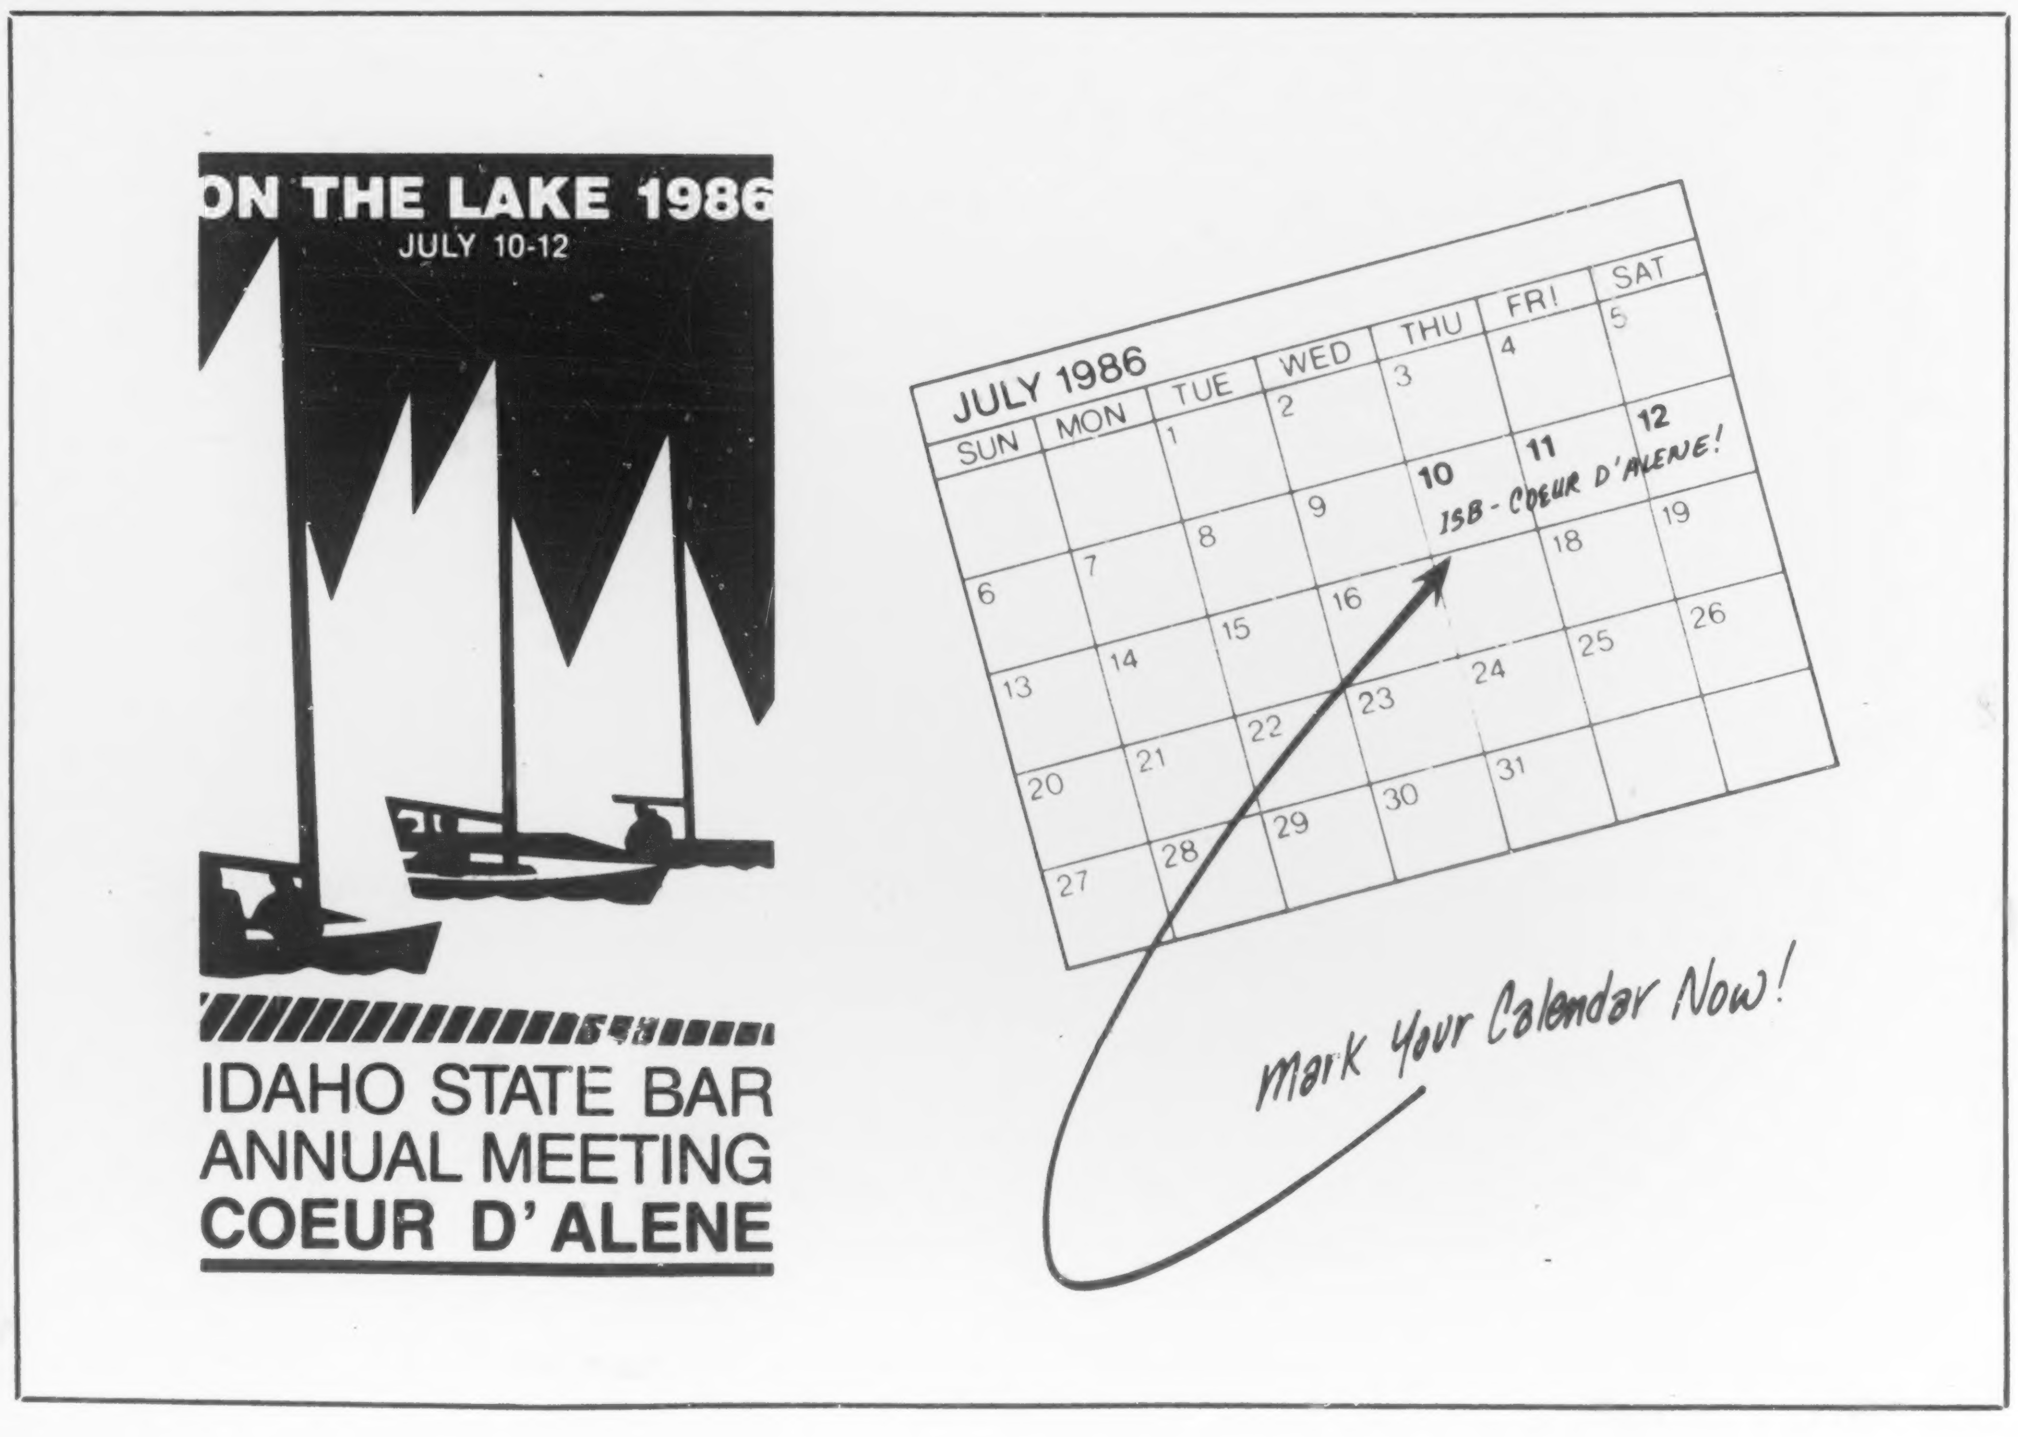
When District Judge William H. Woodland circuit rides to rural counties in the Sixth Judicial District, he takes along a recording machine, not a court reporter. It's part of an experiment to determine whether electronic recording equipment can provide a satisfactory record in the district court. After almost a year of experience, the verdict is in: electronic recording works, and it saves money.

Judge Woodland began the experiment in April of 1985, when his former court reporter retired. With sophisticated multi-track recording and playback equipment purchased by the Administrative Office of the Courts, Woodland began recording all court proceedings. For court and jury trials, he hired a free-lance court reporter, using the electronic equipment as backup. On some occasions, attorneys stipulated to the use of recording equipment as an alternative to a live court reporter.

When a transcript of a court proceeding was needed and a court reporter had not been present, a duplicate electronic tape was prepared, sent to a qualified typist, and the written transcript was returned within a few days. Woodland found the quality of the transcript to be, "Not only acceptable, but of very high quality."

Judge Woodland's experiment is saving money: the cost of free-lance reporter services have been minimal; and the salary savings from not hiring a full-time reporter paid for the initial cost of the recording equipment in the first six months.

Judge Woodland plans to continue use of electronic recording on a permanent basis. "It does the job, and it saves money," says the Judge, "And the taxpayers sure can use some relief."



THE LEXIS COMMITMENT.

In 1973, LEXIS® introduced the first computer-assisted legal research service. And it has been committed to being the best ever since. Over 150,000 legal professionals now swear by LEXIS, making it the most used and most useful service in the field.

Commitment to being complete. LEXIS is the largest, most comprehensive online database of law and legal information in the world. All full text. All continually updated.

Commitment to ease of use. You can now use LEXIS in your office or home on many of the world's most popular personal computers—IBM, AT&T, Apple, Wang, Xerox and many others. We are open over 23 hours a day—more than 16 hours a day on Saturday and Sunday.

Commitment to expansion. We are constantly adding to and perfecting our product. Only LEXIS, for example, gives you NEXIS®, the largest online, full-text database of news, business and general information. Plus EXCHANGE, an in-depth financial database. Plus ECLIPSE, our electronic clipping service.

Commitment to savings. LEXIS is the most cost-effective service of its kind. You can search the largest LEXIS file for only $18, plus connect time—most files for only $9. And searching during off-peak hours is half price. You save time, too. All 50 states or all federal cases, for example, can be searched in a single step.

Commitment to training. LEXIS is supported by a superbly trained staff of over 200 professionals in 33 cities to help users learn applications specific to their practice, sharpen search techniques and save time and money. When you need us we're there.

Commitment to you. LEXIS is dedicated to delivering the quality of legal research you demand—whatever it takes, no matter what your specialty. Find out more. Write Jack W. Simpson, President, Mead Data Central. Dept. IC85, P.O. Box 1830, Dayton, OH 45401.
